

With Maui's Girl Scouts

(By Miss Frances Seibert, Director)

Educating Girl Scouts

During the recent National Convention of Girl Scouts, held in Savannah, Ga., Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, noted educator of Boston, Mass., and chairman of the Education Committee, made a brief speech which has since attracted widespread attention. What she said applies not only to scouts, but to others.

"Education is too often confused with schooling; but schooling is a small part of education," declared this authority. "All of our lives long we are in school, learning our lessons and the largest responsibility resting upon our shoulders is our duty to share with youth all that we have learned. The chief function of the teacher is to interpret to those who 'want to know.' Whether we know it or not, consciously or unconsciously, each and every one of us is an interpreter. We cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard."

"Therefore, every Scout is a member of the Education Committee, help ing America to understand what scout ing is for, what it can do for girls and what it can do for the country. Mrs. James J. Storrow's pioneer work in establishing national training schools for Girl Scout officers near Boston has taught us at last how the Girl Scout leader can be most quickly trained with efficiency and understanding. The Girl Scout hand book makes clear as crystal the Girl Scout code and aims. The Field Directors are a devoted army, carrying the message across. The captain, working at close range with the girls, is perhaps interpreter in chief. But at last and not least, the spirit of the Girl Scout herself enables us to understand why it is good for all girls to know Scouting. Our great privilege is to develop and multiply this spirit throughout America."

Whitehead. Tests were passed before the opening exercise. Most of the time was spent for tests. The opening exercise was held from 3:30 to 4:00.

"The Star Bethlehem troop are going to give the entertainment at Wailuku. So the Lehua troop at Wailuku are going to help them. We do not know when the entertainment will be. So will let you know at the next meeting."

"Most of the meeting were spent for discussing about the camping to Kailua. Then we had our closing exercise."

"Your loving scout,
"KATSUYO IKEDA."

Puukolli

You will all be interested to hear the result of the entertainment given at Puukolli last Friday evening by the Girl Scouts.

The main part of the program was an operetta "Melliottee" given by the Star of Bethlehem troop. This was splendidly done and represented much hard work both on the part of the girls and directors. The costumes were pretty and interesting. In addition to the operetta scout songs were given by the girls in uniform.

The Puukolli (America Beauty Rose) troop contributed to the program a reading by Emelia Louis; a clever aesthetic dance in costume by Elizabeth Buchanan and their troop song.

Mrs. Ralph Shaw, captain of the Puukolli troop, reports net proceeds to the amount of $64.90, half of which is given to the Lahaina scouts. This is to go toward the camping trip.

Last Tuesday the Star of Bethlehem troop repeated their performance at Lahaina. No report has come in of this meeting.

Speckelsville

Wednesday afternoon the Carnation troop gave a delightful afternoon tea for council members of the Puukolli district, at the home of Mrs. James Fantom.

Each girl invited two members writing and sending out their own invitations.

The only regret and disappointment was the lack of guests. We all realize that this is a busy life and it is a great bore to attend many of the functions in which we have no interest. Some of us however forgot to send our regrets and simply ignored the invitations. We cannot afford to be thoughtless and hurt children.

Delicious refreshments were served and we thank Mrs. Fantom and others who so generously gave their time and help.

Makawao

Sweet Pea troop is giving an entertainment Saturday, June 17, at the Hawaiian Church. It will be good and we hope you all will come. Captain Yap and Lieutenant Miller report hard work.

Hamakuaopoko

Signal tests for second work are occupying much time and thought on the part of the Morning Glories.

Paia and Haiku

Next Tuesday some members of the Bougainvillea troop are to accompany the director to Haiku and assist in the tenderfoot presentation ceremony. We will tell you about it next week.

Reserve Tuesday night, June 20th. This is the date for the Girl Scouts at the Hippodrome at Wailuku. The Star of Bethlehem troop will give their operetta "Melliottee" and a number or two by the Wailuku scouts. A picture will also be given. Watch the paper for further notices.

There will be a Girl Scout Relay at the Swimming Meet, Puukolli tank Monday evening. This will be for the silver cup.

Second class badges have arrived. If you didn't receive one on Scout day, let us know so that you may receive yours at once. All badges should be only tacked on the uniforms and removed when the dress is washed.

Kailua

Girl Scout Camp beginning June 26th and ending July 17th. List of the girls going and the weeks will appear in next week's news.

DOROTHY DALTON

A complete Mexican town, supposedly peopled by renegade Mexicans and murderous Chinese and located somewhere on the Mexican coast, was constructed at Paradise Cove, on the shore of San Francisco Bay, for scenes in "Moran of the Lady Letty."

The town was laid out with streets and twenty buildings of adobe, plaster and wood and thatched over the roofs with straw were erected. Thirty carpenters and scenic artists labored for two weeks to build the village.

The village is the scene of some of the most thrilling dramatic episodes of the new sea picture, which is an adaptation of the novel by Frank Norris. Dorothy Dalton plays the featured role, and Rudolph Valentino plays opposite her.

TOM MIX

Tom Mix in the saddle, at the wheel of a racing car, doing stunts with the aid of his horse Tony and leaping a river in addition to winning the hand of a pretty girl his latest William Fox western picture, "The Road Demon."

This thrilling, speedy comedy of western life is declared to be the best Mix has made—which is saying something for the clever Fox star. He begins by swapping his horse (not Tony, of course) for a broken-down auto on the desert, and finding the steering gear broken, he uses his lariat to guide the pesky thing. He finally gets it going. He rides back to the ranch. He can't stop the car. He rides through a fence and then a barn, and at length he yells to his cowboy friends to shoot a hole in the gas tank to make it halt.

The pace set in the opening scenes is maintained throughout the picture. He wins a road race with the car. But the finish comes after thrilling stunts. He does some rescue work that is hair-raising—and he wins the hand of pretty Claire Anderson, his leading woman.

Others in the cast are Charles K. French, George Hernandez, Lloyd Bacon, Sid Jordan, Charles Arling, Harold Goodwin, Billy Elmer and Frank Tokawaja. Lynn F. Reynolds wrote and directed the story.

ALICE BRADY

Alice Brady, the popular emotional actress, will be seen here in "Dawn of the East," a story of China, written especially for her by E. Lloyd Sheldon, who has travelled extensively in the Orient, and has woven around the personality of the star a vivid melodrama well suited to her talents. The story concerns a beautiful Russian noblewoman who flees from her country at the outbreak of the revolution and makes her way into China, where she is stranded in Shanghai, and forced to sing in a notorious cafe to eke out a living for herself and invalid sister.

Included in the cast supporting Miss Brady in this stirring play are Michio Ito, the famous dancer from Formosa, who makes his screen debut in this picture in a striking character role, Kenneth Harlan, Betty Carpenter, America Chedister, Sam Kim, Frank Honda, Harriet Ross, and Patricio Reyes, besides a host of Chinese, Japanese, Hindoo and other foreign extras.

The settings, authentic reproductions of some of the most famous spots in Shanghai, are said to be the most magnificent ever erected in Realart's eastern studio. Oriental splendor and lavish costuming of many characters and extras make "Dawn of the East" a great spectacular treat.

E. H. Griffith directed this Realart production.

"THREE LIVE GHOSTS"

Genuine bits of the London Limehouse district are seen in the early scenes of "Three Live Ghosts," a new Paramount picture which will be shown here.

To those Americans who only know this quarter of London as it lives in the pages of Thomas Burke's stories, it will be interesting to see Limehouse as it really is. The celebrated Chinese quarter, which most tourists seem to imagine vaguely as a vast uncharted district of darkest London in reality only comprises the two thoroughfares of Limehouse Causeway and Pennyfields. One sees no dreamy looking Chinaman or flowerlike girls, but only a number of yellow men in European clothes engaged in perfectly legitimate business. Possibly Mr. Burke, the films, and the American tourists who visit Limehouse in the expectation of seeing life as it is lived in the underworld, have unconsciously conspired in a successful effort to make London's Chinaman respectable—at least to the naked eye. And thus they will see in "Three Live Ghosts,"—as it really is.
